June 2nd, 2020 - two of the new experiments are designated for chapter 11 which is notable because no experiments were designated for chapter 11 in the twelfth edition new solubility and the effect of temperature on solubility is a new experiment in which the students measure the solubility above and below ambient temperature to generate a solubility curve the students also determine the mass of an unknown solid in a saturated solution and then read a graph to identify the unknown solid'
